STUDIO CITY, CA – Jill Wagner (“Christmas in Evergreen: Letters to Santa,” “Pearl in Paradise,”) and Kristoffer Polaha (“Small Town Christmas,” “Pearl in Paradise”) star in “Mystery 101,” a new original premiering Sunday, January 27, (9p.m. ET/PT) on Hallmark Movies & Mysteries

After years of teaching Mystery 101, Amy Winslow (Wagner) has become an expert in whodunnits. New in town, Detective Travis Cole (Polaha) arrives on campus to investigate the theft of a genetically engineered plant worth millions from the Life Science Lab, where he meets Amy. Though Travis can't divulge details about the theft, he and Amy do engage in playful banter while she waits for a student who doesn't show. Suspecting the girl has boyfriend trouble, Amy is worried, especially when she receives a disturbing call from her student and the phone goes dead. Now the fictional crime professor fears she's going to need to investigate a real crime. Not only has her student disappeared, but also the girl's boyfriend is found dead, and her colleague, whose office overlooks the science lab, suddenly commits suicide. As Amy figures out who's behind her student's disappearance and the two deaths, she also discovers who stole the plant, and inadvertently puts herself in danger. Now Travis must do some quick sleuthing as more lives are at stake.
