JACK TURNER (Charlie O'Hanlon) - Turner studied at the University of Oxford before moving to San Francisco where he worked for Google. During that time he enrolled in a local acting class and became addicted to the craft.

Since moving to LA in 2012 Turner has worked in TV, film and commercials.

His first movie was The 10 Year Plan, playing love-sick romantic Myles. He was Prince Colin in Hallmark Channel original movie "My Summer Prince," and he also appeared on "Stitchers" (Freeform) for two seasons as the mysterious bad guy Liam Granger. In 2017 Turner played J.R.R Tolkien on "DC's Legends of Tomorrow," the first time the writer has been played on TV.

He has five movies releasing in 2019: Hallmark's "One Winter Proposal," "Forever in My Heart", and "One Winter Wedding," also the recent "Nosferatu" remake, and finally Sony's "Red Devil."

Turner is a musician with over 10 years experience on keyboards and guitar. He played music in "Forever in My Heart", and he created the soundtrack for "Steam Room Stories-The Movie," releasing in 2019.
