STUDIO CITY, CA – September 6, 2019 — Erin Cahill ("Last Vermont Christmas," "Sleigh Bells Ring"), Trevor Donovan ("SnowComing," "Marry Me at Christmas") and Gregory Harrison ("Chesapeake Shores," "Signed, Sealed, Delivered: To the Altar") star in "Love, Fall & Order," a new, original movie premiering Saturday, October 12 (9 p.m. ET/PT), on Hallmark Channel as part of the network's annual "Fall Harvest" programming event.

With the fall season underway, Hank (Harrison), a New England farmer, finds himself embroiled in a legal property dispute with his next-door neighbor. Upon learning of her father's plight, Hank's daughter, Claire (Cahill), an ambitious New York attorney, returns to her small hometown in Vermont to help save his beloved farm from being taken away from her family. There, she runs into Patrick Harris (Donovan), a handsome local attorney who turns out to be related to the woman suing Hank and is representing her in their upcoming court case. Though they haven't seen each other since their days as high school rivals, Claire and Patrick find themselves on opposing sides of the heated property dispute and battling over the coveted farmland. Before long, despite being adversaries determined to secure the property and remain loyal to their families, a romantic spark ignites between Claire and Patrick and conflicting feelings arise as an autumn romance begins to bloom.

“Love, Fall & Order” is a Redline Entertainment production. Maclain Nelson is the executive producer. David Wulf serves as producer. Clare Niederpruem directed from a script by Audrey Shulman.
