CINDY BUSBY (Eden Clark) – Cindy Busby has been making waves in Hollywood both on the big and small screens. Growing up in Montreal, Canada, Busby always dreamed of becoming an actress. From the time she was a child, she loved performing for an audience, and throughout her elementary school and high school years, she devoted herself to every theater school production. Upon graduating from high school, Busby was accepted into the Professional Theater Program at Dawson College in Montreal and was admitted from amongst hundreds of applicants. The rigorous, three-year training allowed Busby to demonstrate her professionalism, hard work and devotion and was presented with an award of academic excellence.

Busby notes her first passion in the business was theater as she honed her acting skills on the stage while in school and right after graduation. In 2005, Busby crossed into television and film and was given her first lead in the story of the Canadian medical hero Norman Bethune in the television series "Bethune." She filmed in rural China for two and-a-half months and the series attracted several million viewers. In 2006, Busby played a supporting lead in the Lifetime original film "A Life Interrupted" opposite Lea Thompson and landed a regular role on the series "Heartland." Cast as Ashley Stanton, a rich, self-righteous, competitive horseback rider, the series took off and has been nominated for several Gemini Awards as well as winning a Director's Guild of Canada prize, all while becoming one of the most popular shows on Canadian television as well as syndicated in over 81 countries around the world.

Throughout the following years Busby continued having success booking roles, first landing the lead antagonist in the "Picture This" alongside Ashley Tisdale, Shenae Grimes-Beech and Kevin Pollack, and appearing on the smash hit series "The Vampire Diaries" on The CW. In 2011, Busby appeared on the big screen in Fox 2000 Pictures' The Big Year, in which she was seen opposite Hollywood heavy hitters such as Steve Martin, Jack Black and Owen Wilson.

Busby's resume also features guest starring roles on The CW shows, "Supernatural," "The LA Complex" and "The Secret Circle," a guest star spot on USA's "Rush," TNT's "Proof" and she was seen heavily recurring on Hallmark Channel's "Debbie Macomber's Cedar Cove." Most recently, she starred in the Hallmark Mysteries & Movies Original "A Godwink Christmas: Meant for Love," and starred in Hallmark Channel Original Movies "Wedding March 5: My Boyfriend's Back," "Royal Hearts" and "Marrying Mr. Darcy." In addition, she was as a series regular on ABC's "Somewhere Between" and UpTV's "Date My Dad."

Up next, Busby will be seen in the TV movie "The Wrong Stepmother," opposite Vivica A. Fox, and she will star as the lead in "Web of Dreams."

TORRANCE COOMBS (Riley) – Torrance Coombs is perhaps best known for his role as Sebastian (Bash) in The CW's hit drama series "Reign" and as Thomas Culpepper in Showtime's Golden Globe nominated series "The Tudors." He also recurred as Declan on The CW's "The Originals".

Born and raised in Vancouver, Canada, Coombs began acting at a young age and continued to participate in theatre roles throughout high school. He later received a degree from the University of British Columbia's theatre and film program in Vancouver.

Coombs recently starred in ABC's period drama series from Shondaland, "Still Star-Crossed." Based on the book by Melinda Taub, the series, executive produced by Shonda Rhimes and Betsy Beers, picked up where the famous Shakespearean story of "Romeo and Juliet" leaves off.

In "Reign" Coombs portrayed the character of Sebastian (King Henry II's illegitimate child) for three seasons. A fan favorite, he garnered a nomination for Outstanding Actor in a Drama TV Series at the 2014 Monte Carlo Television Festival for his role.

Coombs has appeared in a recurring role in Showtime's critically acclaimed, mega hit television series "The Tudors" in which he played Thomas Culpepper, a courtier and close confidant of Henry VIII (Jonathan Rhys Meyers). Later that year, he also appeared in CBC's "Heartland" as Chase Powers. In 2011, he co-starred as Sam Besht, a grad student chess fanatic, in the Hulu drama series "Endgame." In 2008, Coombs' first television role was as John Doe in the CBC comedy series "iPod" and shortly after as Lance Corporal C. Sellers in the 2009 episode of the television series "Battlestar Galactica."

Coombs resides in Los Angeles.
